“ I was going to write Chris via looking up a address on the computer to tell him how much I enjoyed reading his book "Don't Leave Me, French Fries" to learn of his passing.

I visited a friend for the first time in Ocean City and within less than 2 hours I was at the historic museum with his book in my hand. I just finished reading his book and much of our lives have similarities as I was raised in the restaurant business that my parents owned. His book has touched me as I recognized all the expressions he used, so I know our ages were close. Best of wishes to his family who is missing him very much.

“ I was so sorry to hear of Mr Abbotts passing!!! I actually just came across an article today with the name of his book, "Don't leave me, french fries" I remembered him instantly as a teacher I had in 6th grade at Gladwyne Elementary School. He was an amazing teachet - all the kids adored him!!! We also loved to hear about his summers in Ocean City. Years later, I loved seeing him in Christle Collage miss that store to this day!!!!

Just wanted to let you know that he really made a big impression on this student and am so sorry for your familys loss.

“ May the peace of Christ and comfort of the Holy Spirit surround the Abbott and Dorman families during this difficult time of saying goodbye to Chris. Jan and I still have a Christmas wreath that Chris and Jane gave us as a wedding gift 34 years ago.
