“ I first met Mary when we were both math teachers at Ardmore Junior Hig School in 1968. She later became a guidance counselor at the same school. Whatever Mary chose do, she brought enthusiasm, interest, and an above average knowledge pertaining to her particular calling and always with the best interest of her students in mind. In my many conversations with her she displayed a great deal of insight about the subject being discussed, interjecting a sense of caring and humor whenever possible. Even as she grew older she remained the same person that so many of us deeply respected and admired as a friend and colleague.

“ Mary was a beloved member of both a women teachers' sorority and a book club that we both belonged to. She added her own charm of humorous wisdom to both. I also came to know her when I drove her to meetings of both of these groups, after she had stopped driving herself. I treasure those memories and the conversations we had. Rest in peace, dear lady.

“ I have been very blessed to have had Mary as a dear friend and confident. She was always there to support and care for me while she was a counselor at Ardmore and Bala Cynwyd and I cherish each and every memory I have of such a kind and generous woman. Her spirit will live with me forever. Love you Mary !!! Sally Nelson
