“ Anne Pennock was a big part of my childhood in Strafford, PA. Her daughter Susan was my best friend and we lived two houses apart. Mrs. Pennock was always welcoming and cheerful, a bright presence in her home. In the kitchen was a wooden plaque with a skunk on it that read, "Why be disagreeable, when with a little effort you can be a real stinker!" What that meant was a mystery to me back then. Mrs. Pennock was pretty and fun, with a good sense of humor. My love and sympathy to Susan and her brothers. My own mother passed away yesterday, so I know how you feel.
