“ George Mayoue was a gentle man, as well as a consumate gentleman. I have thought of him often, and was lucky to have known him through our association with Herff Jones. My father, Ted Beach, joins me in celebrating George's new presence in His mansion, as well as his life here as a loving husband, father, grandfather, his career marked by integrity and dedication and his loyalty to church and friends. To all of his family, my prayers are with you as you miss and remember him.##imported-begin##Marybeth Eads##imported-end##
