

Irma Mack Morris

January 11, 1931 - June 8, 2011

Irma Mack Morris, 80, passed away on June 8th , 2011 after a long battle with lung disease. Irma was born in Kingston, PA on January 11, 1931, as the oldest child of Robert E. Mack and Elizabeth Rundle Mack. She graduated in 1948 from Forty Fort High School (PA) and later trained in nursing at Nesbitt Memorial Hospital. Upon the untimely death of her police officer father, who died while pulling victims from a house fire, Irma left her nursing studies, taking a job with the phone company to provide for her younger brother and her widowed mother. On February 13, 1954 she married Robert D. Morris in Forty Fort, PA. She was the mother of four beloved sons, Robert S. (Mary Helen) Richard L., Jeffrey A. and Scott S. (Anne). Her household was a bevy of activities centered on Irma's mothering of her "five" boys, dispensing advice, love and food to them and to their friends as they rotated through her kitchen. Irma was a resident of Dewitt, NY from 1960 through 1973 and remained an active member of Dewitt Community Church, where for many years she was Chairman of The Antique Show. She moved in 1973 to Pittsfield, MA and in 1980 to Bryn Mawr, PA . She and her husband were the honorees for which Hamilton College's Irma M. and Robert D. Morris professorship was named. She and her husband retired in 1991 splitting their time between Bryn Mawr, PA and relaxing in Stone Harbor, NJ. Irma is survived by her husband Bob, her four sons, her brother Bob (Lynne) Mack, seven grandchildren, Elizabeth, Will, Robert, Natalie, Sarah, Caroline and Luke, and her brother-in-law Jack (Connie) Morris.

Visiting hours will be held June 11th from 4-6:30 pm at Chadwick & McKinney Funeral Home, 30 East Athens Avenue, Ardmore, PA.

A Memorial will be held on June 25th 11am at Dewitt Community Church.

Burial will be private.
