“ To the family of Jane:

The following will be added to the Chestnut Hill Historical Society's website about Jane.

Many of you in the Chestnut Hill Historical Society community remember our wonderful volunteer and supporter, Jane Copeland, who died October 18, 2016. After a long career in merchandising at Strawbridge and Clothier and other stores, Jane retired and began volunteering at CHHS, and the Woodmere Art Museum. She worked tirelessly cataloging photographs, records, site plans, and whatever was recently acquired with a meticulous attention to detail from 2004 to 2009 at CHHS. She also contributed funds to many Archives fundraising initiatives, including helping to purchase new collections, for the start-up of the online Photograph Catalog, for Discovering Chestnut Hill, our long-term exhibit, for a historic images, slide conversion project, and more. After retiring as a volunteer here, Jane continued to give to the organization generously. When Jane decided it was time to leave her work at CHHS, she wrote Liz Jarvis a wonderful note saying, "I have enjoyed every minute of my new venture as an archivist!"

We all miss her! Liz Jarvis, Curator/Archivist
