“ Yee Ma Mae Jane, it was so hard to lose you. it was so hard to see u in that weakened state that u left us in. Even though u in ur heart were ready to go, i wasnt ready to let u. i wish we could have had that talk that u wanted to have, even tho everyone tells me what u wanted to tell me, its different, i wanted to hear it from u. i wish u could be here to share all of our lives with us. if there was anything that i could have done to keep u here with us, i would have done it. u were the one who endured all the pain that u did, and yet u were the strongest one out of all of us. breast cancer weakened ur body, but ur spirit was always so strong. even in ur last days when u could hardly talk u asked y was i crying, u never wanted any of us to cry or be sad for u. i really really miss u...##imported-begin##Marissa##imported-end##
