

Margaret Grace Stineman M.D.

July 10, 1952 - July 9, 2020

Margaret Grace Stineman, M.D.

Born on July 10th, 1952 and died on July 9th, 2020.

She had a distinguished career at the University of Pennsylvania as a physician, researcher and professor. She had over a hundred articles published in medical literature and received many awards for her work.

Besides her career in medicine, Margaret was an artist who graduated from Tyler School of Art before getting her degree from Hahnemann Medical School. Her large paintings were hung throughout her home. In addition to scientific writing, she wrote songs and music to perform on her guitar as well stories about her life. She was a member of the Brandywine Writers' Circle and recently had a story about her parrot published in their anthology.

An animal lover, Margaret had dogs and a parrot, Goony, who was her companion for 30 years. Despite being disabled since birth, Margaret did not shy away from academic or professional challenges or the passionate enjoyment of life, which was often reflected in an adventuresome spirit for fun and her hearty laugh.

She was a member of St. Asaph's Episcopal Church. She is survived by her mother, Margaret Stineman, 95, and dear friends who were inspired by her remarkable gifts and courageous spirit.

Her burial service will be private in Church of the Redeemer Churchyard.

In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to “The Margaret Grace Stineman Fund.” Any donations by check should be made payable to “Trustees of the University of Pennsylvania” and mailed to: Penn Medicine Development, Attn: Sheryl Garton, 3535 Market St., Ste. 750, Philadelphia, PA 19104

“ Margaret Stineman and I were at Radnor High School together. We both took art classes with Mr. German. Margaret’s art work was much better than mine. I ended up buying one of her paintings, a kitchen still life, as a Mother’s Day gift when we were in high school. It hung in my mother’s kitchen for decades. It now hangs in mine.. A few years ago, I contacted Margaret to tell her how much I still loved her painting. I’m very sorry that she is gone.

“ Dear Dr. Stineman,
You left just before your 68 birthday. So sad, so suddenly and so surprisingly.
But you will remain in my heart forever. You are the one brought me out of kitchen, and taught me doing research. You influenced me being a better person through your story and your perseverance when we had lunch together once a week for almost 10 years. Your life, your drive and your tenacity always inspire and encourage me. How grateful I am of having you as my boss, mentor and friend. I promised to visit you once a year after you retired. So regret that I didn't see you last year and this year. Sorry.....
Rest in peace. There is no sorrow in Heaven.
Miss you!

“ Such sad news of someone gone too soon. Margaret was a beautiful person with so much to give to the world. I learned so much from her - committed to moved my family to Philly without even visiting just to have the opportunity to work with her. My favorite memory was her routine and a reminder to me to eat a piece of dark chocolate every evening. "Because it is good for you. And life is too short." Rest in peace

*I had the privilege of working with Margaret on the Advisory Board for the National Center for Medical Rehabilitation Research. Her words were so thoughtful. She was such a remarkable woman and so very humble. She will be missed.
