Paul Wiedorn was the best of men as evidenced by his love of his dogs. He was, and continues to be, an example for all.

“ Sympathies Penny, I know what it is like to lose a father. There is never a good time to lose them. I was in a store today and passed by the dark chocolate aisle, and thought that it's too bad I can't fill up the jar on your church secretary's or the secret stash in the supply shelf. I think "even more so" now that I've heard about your dad. (Love the picture of your dad and Tom in white cowboy hats.) Peace be with you and your family.
