“ I remember when we both attended Bala Cynwyd Jr. High together, I wanted so badly for us to become friends. I could see past your tough exterior, I saw the pain in your eyes, I sensed you had already seen too much at our young age. I invited you to my birthday party, and you actually showed up! It wasn't anything fancy - just hanging out, listening to my new Peter Frampton album...but I was SO happy you were there. We never became close friends - I moved to Seattle after the 8th grade...but you always gave me a smile or a nod when we passed in the hall at school. And now you are gone...I hope you knew how very special you were.
