“ My sincere condolences to the family. I am so very sorry for your loss. I hadn't been in touch with Bill for a few years so his passing was a surprise to read about. I worked for The Graham Company for a short time when they were still in the Race Street building. I had also previously worked for Carnett & Teaf after Bill's father went out on his own and they dropped Graham from their name. When I moved back to Underwriting we did several deals together over the years and would have lunch to celebrate the wins afterwards whenever possible. When I left one company for another I would receive a good luck plant from Bill. I attended many Graham Christmas parties at the Race Street office then later at The Franklin Institute. It was always the best Insurance party of the season! Bill's smile and laugh were infectious. We even ran into each other in the allergist's office at Bryn Mawr hospital. I had no idea we were both with the same doctor for many years. I remember how much he loved motor cycles but had a bad accident several years ago which left him in a lot of pain. He built up an amazing company from the small agency his father started. His larger than life presence will be missed by many.
